KNOWLEDGE...

because your career does not come with a guarantee.

To succeed in today’s banking world, bank officers need the wisdom and expertise that comes from perception and insight, an astute ability to discover, discern and decide. It’s that kind of knowledge that the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University has been offering to experienced bank officers for 70 years.

Completion of the GSB program has become a standard prerequisite to professional advancement in many banks. Bank officers at banks of all sizes from community banks to multi-billion dollar institutions, find that the School’s curriculum addresses their educational needs.

The course of study at the Graduate School of Banking spans 25 months, with three two-week resident sessions annually. During these resident sessions, bankers–students receive approximately 200 hours of classroom instruction. Organized evening study, written examinations and bank study projects between resident sessions are an integral part of the School’s comprehensive program.

The course is challenging, and students must have a commitment to a high degree of personal discipline to graduate. But those that make it leave with a new kind of knowledge...

in front, at the top!*

Synovus® Bank

“I chose to attend the Graduate School of Banking at LSU as it was (and still is) the premier school for bankers in the Southeast. I graduated in May 2008 and was promoted to CEO of our Synovus bank in Rome, Georgia the next month. The education I received at LSU was pivotal in preparing me to lead the bank and have a broad-based understanding of the many factors that impact a bank's success. Not only did I benefit from the well-rounded curriculum of the school, I have utilized the network I formed at LSU many times over the past 10 years. My decision to attend the school and commit to the three years of learning was one of the best choices I have made in my own personal and professional development.”
