KNOWLEDGE...

because your career does not come with a guarantee.

To succeed in today’s banking world, bank officers need the wisdom and expertise that comes from perception and insight, an astute ability to discover, discern and decide. It’s that kind of knowledge that the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University has provided experienced bank officers for over 70 years.

Completion of the GSB program has become a standard prerequisite to professional advancement in many banks.

Officers at banks of all sizes, from community banks to multi-billion dollar institutions, find that the School’s curriculum addresses their educational needs.

The course of study at the Graduate School of Banking spans 25 months, with (3), two-week resident sessions each year. During these resident sessions, bankers/students receive approximately 180 hours of classroom instruction. Organized evening study, written examinations and bank study projects between resident sessions are an integral part of the School’s comprehensive program.

The course is challenging, and students must have a commitment to a high degree of personal discipline to graduate. But those that make it leave with a new kind of knowledge...

...knowledge that will set them apart – in front, at the top!

STUDENT PROFILE

An important benefit of the GSB program is the knowledge gained from interaction with fellow students. The relationships developed during the resident sessions have been found by graduates to be of immeasurable benefit to them and their organizations.

In the 2019 session, two thirds of the bankers/students held the rank of vice president or higher, almost 70 percent of the students had over five years of experience in banking, and approximately 90 percent held at least one college degree.

The student body represents banks from under $100 million to over $200 billion in assets with the median bank size being in the $500 million-$1 billion range. The number of female bank officers enrolled in the GSB has grown in recent years. In 2019, 108 of the 536 bankers attending the GSB were women.
